

Michal Zasada

Ph.D., M.Sc., For. Eng.

EDUCATION

Ph.D. Faculty of Forestry, Warsaw Agricultural University, Warsaw, Poland. Area of specialization: Mensuration and Growth & Yield modeling (1998)

M.Sc. & For. Eng., Faculty of Forestry, Warsaw Agricultural University, Warsaw, Poland. Area of specialization: Forest Mensuration (1993)

CURRENT POSITION

Faculty of Forestry, Warsaw Agricultural University: Vice-Dean for Students' Affairs

Faculty of Forestry, Warsaw Agricultural University, Department of Dendrometry and Forest Productivity: Assistant Professor

CAREER

Warnell School of Forestry and Natural Resources, University of Georgia, Athens, GA, USA: Adjunct Professor (2004-present)

Postdoctoral Associate at Warnell School of Forest Resources, University of Georgia, Athens, GA, USA. Appointment: research on „Long-term sustainability analysis of forest resources in Georgia and assessment of potential impacts of riparian zones and other regulatory and business constraints“ funded by TIP3 (2001-2004)

Assistant Professor at Department of Forest Mensuration and Productivity, Warsaw Agricultural University, Warsaw, Poland. Appointment: research and teaching (1998-present)

Research Assistant at Department of Forest Productivity, Warsaw Agricultural University, Warsaw, Poland. Appointment: research and teaching (1993-1998) 105-119.